Reverend Aaron McEmrys

When I was a kid I loved to make treasure maps. I even had a secret shoebox in the back of my closet where I kept them, each showing the way to something wonderful—to the place where the deer liked to drink at dusk, to my favorite apple tree or the best place to cross the river. And I still love a good treasure map, all these years later, so I hope you'll join me this week as we unroll the parchment of our own congregational treasure map and follow it to something wonderful: our own future, circa 2012. So bring your curiosity, your pith helmets and your sense of adventure!

March 14 On Turning Away

Reverend Aaron McEmrys

This month we will reflect on one of the most difficult themes of the year: sin. What a difficult, maddening, contrary, elusive word! It seems as if our world is saturated with the word, which is applied so often as a description of almost anything the speaker doesn't like or as a cynical tool in a power monger's arsenal. What, if anything, does sin have to do with us? Is it a betrayal of god? Of belief? Is it the breaking of a rule, an oath or a contract? Or is it something else altogether? And if any of these be sin—then what, pray tell, is salvation?

Toward Our 2012 Vision— Join Us Starting March 7

Do you remember creating our USSB vision and mission statements some years ago? We set our desires into action items as a Strategic Plan. Now in the fifth year of our plan we are ready to become even a greater congregation, one that better serves our members' needs and brings social justice to our world.

Do not miss worship service on March 7 as Rev. Aaron McEmrys brings our vision to life. Help to unite our dreams and hopes for USSB and bring them into fruition. This deepening understanding of our vision continues on March 14 and March 21 during our community hour between Sunday services.

We ask that all congregational friends and members make a special effort to attend service on March 7. Then plan on attending a "Knowing & Feeling Your Church at a Deeper Level" presentation on March 14 or March 21. These presentations will be held from 10:45 until 11:20 in Parish Hall, and are designed to fit well with your attendance at either the 9:30 or the 11:30 service.

Take this opportunity to become more engaged in the ongoing transformation of our beloved community.

Direct Relief International at March Alliance Meeting

The Alliance Board invites everyone to the Friday March 5 meeting in Parish Hall at 2:00 PM. The speaker will be Mr. Stanley Hatch, who is chairman of Direct Relief International for South Africa and is now involved in the Haitian earthquake relief response. He was an attorney with the firm of Hatch and Parent for 35 years before joining DRI. His current interest is in improving medical resources to the poor throughout the world. He will talk about the DRI organization and its recent activities in Haiti and will be available to answer questions. Refreshments will be provided by Alliance members (I-Z).

USSB Hosts a Return of a Tradition in April— The PSWD Assembly

This April, our Pacific Southwest District is reviving an old tradition: holding District Assembly at a congregation (it has been 10 years!) instead of at a hotel or conference center. On Friday, April 23, and Saturday, April 24, DA will be hosted HERE at the Unitarian Society of Santa Barbara, with the help from Live Oak UU, Goleta. District Assembly is a chance to meet fabulous and fascinating UUs from 50 congregations across the region, to learn and discuss new ideas in interesting workshops, and to strengthen the District and Unitarian Universalism. DA is part revival meeting, part convention, and part jamboree.

We urge you to attend this weekend gathering. We can promise you that Friday night's opening ceremony will be electric, thanks to the keynote speaker, the Rev. Mark Morrison-Reed, and to musicians from Live Oak and USSB! Workshops being offered Saturday will spark many conversations and ideas for everyone. This is a family-friendly weekend with childcare, a children's program and youth activities.

Our local planning team is forming now, so please be prepared to offer your assistance when you are contacted by one of our local leaders. We will need your help to create a warm welcome for our fellow Unitarian Universalists! You may help with greeting, registering people, and general hospitality. Because many out-of-town guests will be requesting home hospitality, we'll also be asking some of you to welcome a guest for a night or two. These overnight guests will make a monetary donation to our local service project "Bring Santa Barbara Home—10 Year Plan to End Homelessness."

Watch the Kaleidoscope for more information on how to register and how to volunteer for this incredible event! Registration is required, and pre-registration is strongly encouraged! Registration for District Assembly will be online in the coming days at www.pswduua.org/pages/district-assembly.php.

Calendars

I have a secret to admit: I have a horrible memory. I can't tell you how many times I find myself committing to something on a Sunday morning that I'm going to do six weeks out, only to be reminded of my commitment days before when it is now a distant memory and I find myself saying, "Yikes! How did I possibly get six things scheduled for next weekend"—when I know deep in my heart I really meant and wanted to participate in all of them. Bless Carol and Nancy for sending out the reminders of auction items I had purchased and for the ones we are hosting; they have been life savers. So to my great relief I was thrilled last week when they sent me a reminder, weeks in advance, to set aside the weekend of April 23–24 as we cohost, in Santa Barbara, the Pacific Southwest District (PSWD) Annual District Assembly and to put it in my calendar in BIG BOLD LETTERS.

What is District Assembly you ask? District Assembly is an annual gathering of the 50 UU congregations located in Southern California, Arizona and Las Vegas. The annual event is hosted by a member congregation and this year it is in Santa Barbara! It is like General Assembly on a smaller scale. (See Nancy Edmundson's article in the previous column for more details and how you can help).

This gives us the opportunity to showcase our congregation, our beautiful community, and the progress that together we have made over the past few years. Many people across the District have heard about our successful building project, our new ministry, our many new members and the work we are doing here in Santa Barbara; they now get a chance to see and feel it firsthand.

For now, I'd like each of you to open up your email calendar, or write in your day timer or even circle the weekend on your kitchen calendar, and reserve the weekend of April 23–24 and plan on participating in District Assembly. It will be lots of fun, very fulfilling and spiritually uplifting and I'm sure you won't want to miss it!

Lifespan RE News

Secret Pals Concludes February 28

This wonderful program will conclude with a brunch on Sunday, February 28, following the service at 10:45 in Parish Hall. Parents of children who are participating in Secret Pals will be providing the delicious food.

Children's Worship

There will be no children's worship through March 21. Instead, our kids will be using art to learn about our seven Unitarian Universalist Principles. During this period of March please dress your children for active, creative, messy participation. We will be continuing to create wonderful artistic renditions of our Principles. If you would like to engage your artistic side, please join us on one of the following Sundays:

Sunday, March 7—Democracy and Peace

We will be stenciling and fabric painting.

Sunday, March 14—Free Search for Truth and Meaning

We will be creating yarn art.

Sunday March 21—Caring for the Earth

We will be collaging.

Donations Needed

Please bring any scraps of brightly colored yarn or fabric to the Religious Education table in Parish Garden on Sunday mornings. We will put them to good use in our arts program. Thank you!

RE Spotlight—Tish Housh

Allow me to introduce Tish Housh, the shining star of this edition's RE Spotlight. Tish has been involved in Religious Education for over two years here at USSB. Tish's original motivation for volunteering to teach in RE was to learn more about Unitarian Universalism. Also, she felt teaching was an excellent way to get her kids more involved.

Tish is a native of San Francisco. Tish's family relocated to Santa Barbara when she was four when her father received a job offer. So I think that makes her at least an honorary native Santa Barbarian.

When I asked Tish about her favorite movie she said, "I don't have just one!" In the musical category Tish voted for West Side Story as the best ever. Her favorite indie film is I've Heard the Mermaids Singing. Tish also loves The Usual Suspects and other mystery films.

Tish and her entire family share a love of reading. You probably have seen her daughter around campus with her head buried in a Harry Potter novel. Tish, however, notes The Solace of Open Spaces, by Gretel Ehrlich, as one of her favorite books.

This year Tish can be found sharing her love of Unitarian Universalism with our 3rd Grade RE class. She and her partner teacher Chuck Champlin are teaching the brand new Faithful Journeys curriculum, part of the Tapestry of Faith program. The goal of Faithful Journeys is to strengthen our children's UU identity and help them realize they too can be powerful agents of change in our world. Take a minute and check out this wonderful new program at <http://www.uua.org/religiouseducation/curricula/tapestryfaith/faithfuljourneys/index.shtml>

Tish would love to see more people sharing the joy in RE by participating in Kid for A Day, Secret Pals, or monitoring the Upper Yard during coffee hour. This is the best way to thank Tish for her awesome commitment to our program!

Family Fun Night

March's Family Fun Night will be Friday, March 12 in Jefferson Hall from 6–8 PM. Join our USSB families for a night of community and lively fun. Please bring a potluck dish to share and cups, plates, and utensils for your family.

Bring on the Kids!

You probably have noticed the increasing number of events and programs that are now offering free childcare here at the Society. This is part of a concerted effort to bring Religious Education and our families into the heart of the congregation.

Providing childcare for adult education classes, choir rehearsals, movie nights, and other events, often is the factor that determines whether or not parents of our community can participate. And if our families aren't included in these activities—or at least provided the option of participating—we cannot call ourselves a truly multigenerational congregation. When our parents and kids are absent from USSB functions, the whole community is deprived of their fellowship, perspective, and enthusiasm.

We here at USSB recognize that raising UU children in our world is an important and sacred charge. We also know it takes the entire community making an investment of time, energy, resources, and love to provide a place where our kids and parents can learn and grow. If there is an event, class, or activity you would like to attend but childcare is an issue, please contact me and we will work together to provide childcare. We are making room for everybody, so bring on the kids!

Sally Hamilton's Art in Town

We are fortunate to have two shows of Sally Hamilton's paintings to see this spring. "Earthly Joys", an exhibit of non-traditional landscapes, is at the Fielding University, 2112 Santa Barbara St. She is exhibiting 15 paintings of landscapes as if viewed from the sky (until April 23).

"Spring's Debut" is at the Meisel Gallery at the Rehabilitation Institute, 2415 De la Vina, where you will find 10 paintings of a variety of subject matter (until May 10).

Get to Know Some of Our New Members

The Unitarian Society of Santa Barbara has welcomed over 20 uniquely wonderful, new members since November. We are honored to have each one of you!

Everyone can experience a formal welcoming for new members a few times during the year, when our Minister Aaron McEmrys offers a special ceremony to mark the beginning of this journey. The New Member Service provides an opportunity to celebrate the decision to be part of our community, and to remind us of our own promise and responsibility in our search for truth.

It is a meaningful event for both new and long-term members. Please note that the next one is scheduled on May 2. You won't want to miss it!

When it comes to welcoming, USSB won't stop there! As the new congregants make friends and integrate into our bustling schedule of events and activities, the Membership Committee would like to ensure that the entire congregation has a chance to know them better.

One way to help is by featuring between two and four new members in the Kaleidoscope every month. We will start with membership from last fall and continue to print as new people join.

Readers will learn just enough about each person that they are sure to be curious for more! We encourage everyone to take advantage of this opportunity. Now there's even more reason to introduce yourself on Sunday!

Jay Lamoureux

Jay was born and grew up in Des Moines, Iowa. He moved to Chicago and lived there for 12 years, eventually coming to Ventura, and has been in Santa Barbara for the past five years. He comes from a small family, his lone sibling sister and her husband also live in Santa Barbara with their two kids. Jay received his B.A. from Bradley University in Communications and after working as a copywriter and creative director, he is now exploring new paths related to his career.

Jay's hobbies range from traveling to creative arts. The accomplishments that he is most proud of are running a marathon, going to school in London, having great friends, and allowing the time for personal growth.

Jay was raised as a Lutheran. He was a student of Paramanansa Yogananda, and is currently a huge fan of our Minister, Aaron McEmrys. As a new member of USSB, his hope and aspiration is to "feel at home."

Katie Mickey

Katie is a single mom of a 13-year-old son. She has lived and worked in Santa Barbara since 1981, but was born and grew up in Ventura.

Her parents started the congregational church, Church of the Foothills, in Ventura. Her mom was head of the choir, her father, a deacon. Her father was also an aeronautical engineer with many fascinating accomplishments. Her mom was very devoted to their family, often at home making bread or yogurt. Katie has one brother, a creative builder of homes. They remain very close.

Katie received her B.A. from UCSB in Theatre Arts and has various trainings in traditional Chinese Medicine and the Holistic Healing Arts. For the past twenty years, she has been the owner and director of the Santa Barbara Body Therapy Institute. She teaches and has a private practice in holistic massage and bodywork.

Her major life accomplishment is embodied in all of the students at the Body Therapy Institute and how their lives change in so many profound ways.

Katie's favorite hobbies are: having time in nature, movement, dance, singing, being in a community, and living the question, "What else is possible?"

Through childhood, Katie thought of herself as a Congregationalist, but became a spiritual seeker of meditation as an adult. She attended the Unitarian Church of Ventura for eight years while co-parenting with her mom. She joined USSB to expand the village in which she raised her son, through our Coming of Age program.

As a member here, Katie is looking for maturation, support, joy, and new possibilities for her son and herself.

John Housh

John came to USSB because all of his family has a home here. He is married to Tish (see RE spotlight, page 3-ed.), and has two young daughters, and serves on our RE Council.

He was born and grew up in Tokyo, Japan, and has lived in Santa Barbara since 1965.

John graduated with a B.S. in Horticulture with a MA in Clinical Psychology. His life profession has been horticulture, but he enjoys surfing as a hobby.

Leslie Benson

Les is married with two kids and has two cats and three geese! He grew up in Glendale, California, and has lived in Santa Barbara for 40 years. He is now retired, and is proud of the fact that he built his own house.

Les has experience as a minimalist and at this point is unsure about his hopes and aspirations as a new member at USSB.

For the First Time: Cable TV on Giant Screen in Parish Hall

We now have another medium on which to base a Lifespan RE program, or community gathering. Imagine sharing an inauguration, election results, State of the Union, “Masterpiece Theatre”, etc., on a 20-foot-wide screen, with a hundred of our UU brothers and sisters and community friends in Parish Hall. Now imagine a Services Auction party you could wrap around such a program.

The first such gathering was to watch the recent Super Bowl and its commercials. Nearly 40 people attended this four-hour extravaganza and shared a gumbo and jambalaya New Orleans-themed main course and plenty of food and drink. The camaraderie was energetic, a few visitors were invited to participate, there was room to spread out—all said, a good time, and some revenue earned for our operating expenses. Drew Zecher seemed to prefer the team whose quarterback shares his name, and won a top prize for predicting the winner and point spread. Maybe the NCAA basketball championship game Monday April 5 will be the next event. Anyone want to organize that?

How to Plan a Cable TV Event in Parish Hall

1

Check that the TV event is carried on a cable channel included in our service package (ask the Office).

2

Reserve use of Parish Hall with the Office (as far in advance as possible—we have a busy campus!)

3

Publicize the event (Kaleidoscope deadlines are 2–4 weeks ahead of the event).

4

Arrange with the Office for advance training in use of the AV equipment and Parish Hall. And for any event, it’s easier and more fun if you recruit a team of volunteers to help with set-up, clean-up and publicity.

Questions? Contact Nancy Edmundson.

Helen Callus and Bach

Many of you have heard Professor Helen Callus play during recent worship services and will appreciate the opportunity to hear this wonderful violist play a series of three concerts, beginning on March 7, and continuing on April 11 and May 30.

In these three concerts she will perform all six of the Bach Suites for solo cello, considered to be great masterpieces of the Baroque period.

These free concerts are part of her preparation for an upcoming recording of these works. Each concert will feature two of the Suites and include a discussion, led by Professor of Musicology Derek Katz, of the historical context of the works and the process of performing and preparing for a major recording. These concerts will offer a unique opportunity to learn about Bach and this masterwork and to understand more about the work of Helen Callus. For more information you can check out: www.helencallus.com. We are very fortunate to have this outstanding artist be part of our music program this spring!

Be sure to put on your calendar Ellen Rockne’s next concert—it will be in the sanctuary on Saturday evening, March 27 at 7:00 PM. Ellen is working on new songs and a variety of styles that will be delightful. Ellen is one of the most talented members of the congregation and it is always a joy to hear her sing and her concerts in the past have drawn a full house!

For more information, feel free to contact John War-nock.

Letter from Griffin Saxon

YRUU Member Griffin Saxon, with the help of his parents and friends, is putting on his and his friend’s original play, Star Wars The Musical. Griffin has had the privilege to be working with 14 great middle and high school students. The show dates are March 5 and 6, 7:30 PM, in Parish Hall.

Hi Everyone,

First off, I hope you can come see the play! All the actors have put so much effort into creating a great production. I’m so proud of them. Another great thing is what we are doing the play for. You see, admission is free, but we will be passing the hat for the YRUU’s 2011 Spring Break Trip to help in New Orleans from what happened during Hurricane Katrina. It’s a great cause and I’m very excited to help raise some funds for it. Once again, I really hope you can all come!

*Sincerely,
Griffin*

In Praise of Jell-O-Salad

I've been researching Jell-O-salads for the past few days in preparation for a church auction event Eliza and I are helping to organize. The theme is "Wisconsin Winterfest."

So we've got brats, squeaky fresh Wisconsin cheese curds (and cheese-head hats) and...you guessed it—Jell-O-salad. You see, no Wisconsin social event, especially a church event, can be authentic and complete without at least one or two Jell-O-salads. Don't ask me why—they're just the rules.

I volunteered to take care of this crucial part of the festivities, but having only memories of Jell-O-salads past to guide me, I called my parents. They have strong views on what makes a particularly good salad, as do many of my old Wisconsin friends on Facebook—all of whom were quick to email me their favorite recipes.

Other friends, less well disposed toward Jell-O-salads, wrote back with witty comments like, "Do you mean Lutheran Church-Basement Salad?"

To which my answer was simple—"YES!"

This one was my favorite as a child, and I was allowed to eat wiggly helping after helping because it was a "salad" after all (it does have carrots in it!):

Carrot-Pineapple Jell-O

- 1 small can crushed pineapple
- 1 cup carrots, grated
- ¼ tsp. salt
- 1 small package lemon Jell-O
- 2 tbsp. lemon juice
- ½ cup sugar

Drain the pineapple and add enough water to the juice to make 1½ cups. Heat to boiling. Add Jell-O and stir until dissolved. Stir in sugar, salt, and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Add pineapple and grated carrots. Chill until firm.

These salads are definitely not very nutritious, nor are they vegetarian-friendly—and I'm not even sure if I will still care for the Jell-O salad I so adored as a child—but I am excited to find out.

It's all about tradition, you see. For me, nothing says, "home" quite like a folding table heavily laden with rich cheesy casseroles and Jell-O-salads, dishes most often named (on handwritten index cards next to the dish) after their inventor, someone's mom, grandma or great-grandma.

Even in the toughest of times, the bright colors of Jell-O (often set in fanciful molds, like turkeys, footballs, or Santas) conjured immediate festivity no matter how tight the budget and made those old canned fruits and vegetables not only edible, but scrumptious.

Laughter, paper plates, orange soda, lazy summer afternoons and seasonal sweatshirts accompany my memories of Jell-O-salad. My memories of Jell-O-salad are suffused with the feeling that everything is going to be just fine—and with the childlike feeling of being safe and loved.

Until I started looking through these old recipes I had no idea...I had forgotten.

And so, here I stand, a proud and protective Jell-O-apologist ready to lift a wobbling green spoonful in gratitude and solidarity with the Midwestern picnics and potlucks of yesterday, today and tomorrow.

What are your food traditions? What are the tastes and smells that transport you across miles and decades? What is your Jell-O-salad? As always, I welcome your stories, and in this case—your recipes.

Bon appétit!

Love, Aaron

West Coast Regional People of Color Event Set

UUs of color from Seattle to San Diego are expected to gather March 19–21 at the first West Coast DRUUMM conference at Throop UU Church in Pasadena. The event is open to anyone who identifies as a person of color and is affiliated with or interested in being affiliated with a UU church. Friday's opening worship will be followed by a full day of workshops on Saturday, including ethnic identity caucusing and exploration of internalized racism.

Sunday's programs are centered around a special worship service. For information, please contact Marisol Caballeros, 626-795-8625, or mcaballero@uuneighborhood.org.

The UU Allies of Racial Equality, the white allies group, will be meeting the same weekend at the Long Beach UU Church. For information on both events, visit www.druumm.onefireplace.org. (DRUUMM stands for Diverse & Revolutionary Unitarian Universalist Multicultural Ministries—ed.)
